

Consultancy for the preparation of the quality management system documents

Objective:

- preparation of the quality management system documents, according to ISO 9001:2015

During this stage, consultancy is provided for:

- identifying the context of the organization and the scope of the quality management system
- determination of the necessary processes for the quality management system, as well as the sequence and interaction of these processes
- identification and evaluation of risks and opportunities
- identification and preparation of the necessary documents for the quality management system (quality policy, quality objectives, procedures, instructions, forms etc.)

Other info:

- the duration of this step varies, depending on your company size (number of positions, number of employees), as well as on the processes complexity
- it is recommended that the personnel involved in the documents preparation previously participate in the "General presentation of ISO 9001:2015 requirements" training
